Draft Board Payoff Reported In Miami

MIAMI (AP) — A former draft board secretary says Miami Beach residents offered her luxury trips to the Bahamas and Europe in exchange for deferments for their 1A sons.

Rejected Offers

Carolyn Copher, a 26-year-old blonde divorcee, said she never accepted a trip offer. But she admitted taking $500 to arrange an occupational deferment, and it resulted last week in a three-year prison sentence.

After she pleaded guilty April 14, four other bribery charges against her were dropped.

Mrs. Copher is appealing the jail term. Now eight months pregnant, she has an 8-year-old son with Arkansas relatives and a 7-year-old daughter.

Accepted Payoff

In an interview published in today's editions of The Miami Herald, Mrs. Copher said she accepted the $500 payoff "because I wanted to help a young man out. And I needed the money because I desperately wanted to bring down my son from Arkansas."

"I know what I did was wrong. And I'm terribly sorry about it and have learned my lesson," she said.

Loads Of Offers

"But almost every day, as executive secretary on Miami Beach, I could have accepted a lot more to recommend certain deferments. I was offered trips to Europe and the Bahamas, with all expenses paid," Mrs. Copher said.

"Many times it was indicated to me, quite clearly, that if I cooperated there would be substantial reward," she said.

"I could have made a fortune had I been really bad."

Rubber Bullets For British Units

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops here have been issued a new weapon for dealing with rioters—rubber bullets.

A hard rubber bullet can be fired from a tear gas gun and plow through crowds cutting down demonstrations, sources say, adding that the soldiers have been ordered to aim low because the missile is capable of breaking legs.

An army spokesman would say only: "We have certain weapons which we can use to bring riots under control with the minimum use of force. We are not prepared to discuss any plans we may have for the future."

State Will Test War's Legality

BOSTON (AP) — Arguing that a sovereign state has a right to be heard, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will ask the U.S. Supreme Court next week to hear a petition seeking to test the constitutionality of the war in Indochina.

State Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn said he will fly to Washington Tuesday or Wednesday to present to the clerk of the court a brief asking the court to hear arguments. The court is in recess until Oct. 5.

The brief is intended to start a Supreme Court test of a law enacted this year by the Massachusetts Legislature. That measure provides that no citizen of Massachusetts may be required to serve abroad in hostilities in which there has not been a declaration of war.

Quinn at first planned to bring the war issue before the court as a lawyer representing one or more Massachusetts citizens in the armed forces unwilling to be sent overseas to fight in an undeclared war. He said he decided against this approach, however, because "previous cases brought by individuals have not been heard."

AF Squadron Set To Be Deactivated

MANILA (AP) — A 554-man U.S. Air Force fighter squadron will be withdrawn from the Philippines and deactivated this month, the U.S. Embassy disclosed today.

The 509th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron at Clark U.S. Air Base will be "inactivated as a unit" by July 24, an embassy spokesman said. The withdrawal will leave approximately 25,500 U.S. military personnel in the Philippines.

The Air Force gave no reason for the deactivation of the 509th, but it was presumed to be in connection with President Nixon's reduction of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Driver In Bus Crash Had Bad Record, Claim

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — New Jersey motor vehicle authorities have notified investigators of a long record of reckless and illegal driving attributed to the operator of a bus which carried seven children to their deaths Wednesday.

The bus plunged off U.S. 22 near Allentown Wednesday during a rainstorm, injuring 52 persons.

Charles Mellon, assistant director of the New Jersey Bureau of Motor Vehicles, said the driver "should have been grounded for life" in October 1967, when he was found guilty of driving on a suspended license.

Instead the man was given an additional six-month suspension and in May was granted a license to drive charter buses. This license was granted two months after the man had been denied a license to drive school buses on the basis of his past driving record and arrests in Essex County, N. J. for check passing and bigamy.

The driver of the bus was injured critically in the accident and has remained in a coma. Pennsylvania state troopers found no driver's license in his possession and said his condition would not permit fingerprinting.

From other papers, however, he was identified as Hubert Daye, 44, of Montclair, N.J.

New Jersey Motor Vehicle Bureau records show that Daye's license was suspended for a year in 1966, and again for six months in 1967. In April, Daye was given the choice of another suspension or taking a driver training course. The course was to have begun in August.

On Friday, Ronald M. Heymann, director of the Motor Vehicle Bureau, ordered Daye's license revoked indefinitely.

Panhandler A Taxpayer

DETROIT (AP) — A panhandler approached a man recently and asked for 21 cents.

Thrust Into Laos Seen Possible

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces pushed ahead with a massive operation in the northern part of South Vietnam today amid signs that the South Vietnamese troops might be preparing for a thrust into Laos.

The joint initiative, including an operation by 1,500 U.S. Marines, is aimed at disrupting North Vietnamese base camps, staging areas and war stockpiles in an effort to preempt an enemy offensive. It began Thursday but was not announced until today for security reasons.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Army chief of staff, said earlier this week after a tour of the war zone that the Communist command had the capability of launching a major offensive in the northern quarter of South Vietnam.

The joint assault, involving nearly 10,000 allied troops, centered in jungle mountains 30 to 50 miles south of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Some troops advanced to within striking distance of Laos; one forward base was at Kham Duc, 13 miles from the border.

U.S. B2 bombers have been concentrating heavy bombing raids along the Laotian frontier over the past week. These raids, combined with movements of artillery guns, indicated that the South Vietnamese forces might be preparing to extend their part of the drive into Laos. In the past, heavy bombing raids have frequently been tipoffs of impending infantry strikes.

Officers said the allied forces were meeting little resistance in their assault. In the early fighting reported, U.S. Marines killed five North Vietnamese Friday while suffering no casualties of their own.

The Marines were operating with South Vietnamese marines, rangers and infantrymen 30 miles south of Da Nang in a region described by one source as a "historically enemy base area."

The Times said part of the assumption was based on reported testimony by Richard C. Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, at a closed-door hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee July 7.

Helms was reported to have said that the American estimate was that Israel has the technical capacity to make atomic weapons.

"In the early and middle sixties, such estimates were reportedly qualified by the proviso that Israel had the capacity to produce such weapons in 12 to 18 months, then later 6 to 9 months, and finally, the time lapse was dropped entirely," the paper said.

"The absence of any reference to any such time delay, according to well-informed

Special Courses Also Figure In Decision

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court, in a far-reaching decision Friday, ruled that the 1963 State Constitution bars public schools from charging students for any textbooks, special courses such as band or shop and athletic programs.

The constitutional reference to "free public elementary and secondary schools," the court said, "clearly means without cost or charge and must have been so commonly understood by the people."

More Support Eyed

Education experts estimated the impact of the ruling would mean an additional $12-20 mil-

Circuit Court to order the Ann Arbor School District to stop charging enrollment fees or requiring students to buy books.

Refunds Proposed

Originally they asked for refund of all fees collected as of the 1966 fall term, but that demand was dropped in the course of litigation after Ager denied it. Ann Arbor District to refund some $140,862, plus interest, that was collected from parents for the 1966-67 and 67-68 school years.

Mrs. Lillian Bond, an Ann Arbor cleaning woman with five children, and Daniel Fusfeld, a University of Michigan economics professor, went to court in September 1966, charging the existing fees for school enrollment and various programs were all unconstitutional.

They sued "on behalf of themselves and all parents" in Ann Arbor. They asked Judge Wil-

Ruling To Cut Area Revenues

The decision of the Supreme Court will mean a loss in revenue of "in the neighborhood of $40,000" annually for the Escanaba Area public schools, according to Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett.

Escanaba has been charging book rental fees ranging from $1.50 to about $12, based on a formula in the state school code which allows district to amortize cost of books over a four-year period. Barrett explained. He said the fees in the district vary according to cost of textbooks used in each grade.

"The ruling upsets the official school laws of Michigan," Barrett said.

He added that the impact of the court decision on the district definitely would be discussed at a school board committee meeting next Wednesday. Although the board adopted a tentative operating budget for the 1969-70 school year to submit to the County Tax Allocation board in April, a final budget has not been approved.

lion in local and state tax support for school programs. Some two million students are enrolled in more than 600 districts around the state.

Acting Public Schools Supt. John Porter said free texts now are provided by 30 per cent of the state's districts.

The unsigned decision by the seven-member court was hailed as a "landmark" by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, who earlier wrote an opinion saying students should not be required to pay for texts and supplies.

Educational Rights

"It has long been the position of the State Board of Education that such things as free textbooks are an educational right," Porter said.

"While it may be expected that some difficulties will arise from this decision, the ultimate benefit I am sure will be to the school children of Michigan," Porter added.

The decision ordered the Ann

Money Issues Slated To Head Contract Talks

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Big Three automakers turn to serious money issues next week after completing opening formalities of the 1970 contract talks on Friday.

Irving Bluestone, codirector of the UAW General Motors department, raced through 41 non-economic position papers on Thursday and Friday. This cleared the way for the union's proposals on higher wages, cost-of-living pay improvements, pensions, and other money issues.

In the past presentation of these position papers has taken days, sometimes weeks.

Bluestone opened talks at GM on Wednesday, along with codirector Leonard Woodcock who succeeded the late Walter Reuther as union president on May 22.

Woodcock moved to Ford Motor Co. on Thursday and Chrysler Friday where he made it clear that if a national agreement has not been reached by expiration of the contracts on Sept. 14, one of the Big Three will be struck.

Woodcock said Chrysler is not immune from a strike despite its financial turmoil of the past few months.

"We are obviously very happy that Chrysler Corp. is back into black figures," said Woodcock, to Thursday's announcement that the firm turned a profit of $8.1 million for the second quarter after two successive quarters of losses.

British Unions Threaten Spread Of Dock Walkout

LONDON (AP) — The nationwide dock strike that has idled Britain's ports might spread to other industries if troops are used to unload ships, the leader of the nation's largest union warned today.

"Before troops are used, the unions should be consulted to see if there are other ways of moving essential cargoes," said Jack Jones, general secretary of the transport and General Workers' Union.

The strike by 47,000 longshoremen is in its third day, and 35,000 British soldiers are on standby alert to unload food and other vital cargo from the ships if necessary. The troops were mobilized under a declaration of national emergency signed by Queen Elizabeth and would be used to unload perishable goods.

But there appeared little likelihood the troops would be used before Monday. The government wants to avoid endangering chances for a settlement by angering the unions.

Both sides in the walkout have ignored government efforts to bring them back to the bargaining table, and Jones said the strike could last a long time. "The dockers are digging in," he said.

Eban Denounces Russ Plans In Middle East

By The Associated Press
Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban has denounced a declaration by the Soviet Union that it will increase its political, economic and military support of Egypt to counter "aggression" by Israel.

Eban said Friday that the Soviet announcement, issued as a communique by the Moscow news agency Tass, contained nothing new and "clearly shows the enmity the Soviet Union harbors against Israel."

"It seems to be clear that the Soviet Union is not set on the course for peace," he said.

The announcement, made at the conclusion of 19 days of talks in Moscow between Egyptian President Gamel Abdel Nasser and Soviet leaders, charged that Israel's "aggressive, expansionist policy became possible only as a result of invariable support by imperialist quarters, first of all the United States."

The communique blamed the Middle East crisis on "unceasing armed attacks" by Israel, and it ignored the recent U.S. proposal for a three-month cease-fire and indirect talks between the Arabs and Israelis.

It called for "adoption of urgent measures to stop Israel's armed attacks against Arab countries, to withdraw Israeli troops from all occupied Arab territories in accordance with the principle of nonacquisition of territories as a result of war and the fulfillment in full volume of the Nov. 22, 1967, decisions of the U.N. Security Council, as well as decisions of the United Nations organizations on questions of Palestinian refugees."

The document also called for "unity of action of all the Arab countries and peoples against the forces of imperialism and its supporters that are hostile to them."

During his stay in Moscow, Nasser conferred with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikola V. Podgorny. Tass said the three Soviet leaders accepted an invitation to visit Egypt, but a date was not announced.

STANTON (AP)—Two Montcalm County youths, who wore a bear skin to frighten their neighbors in the county's Six Lakes section, have been jailed on charges of wearing a mask illegally.

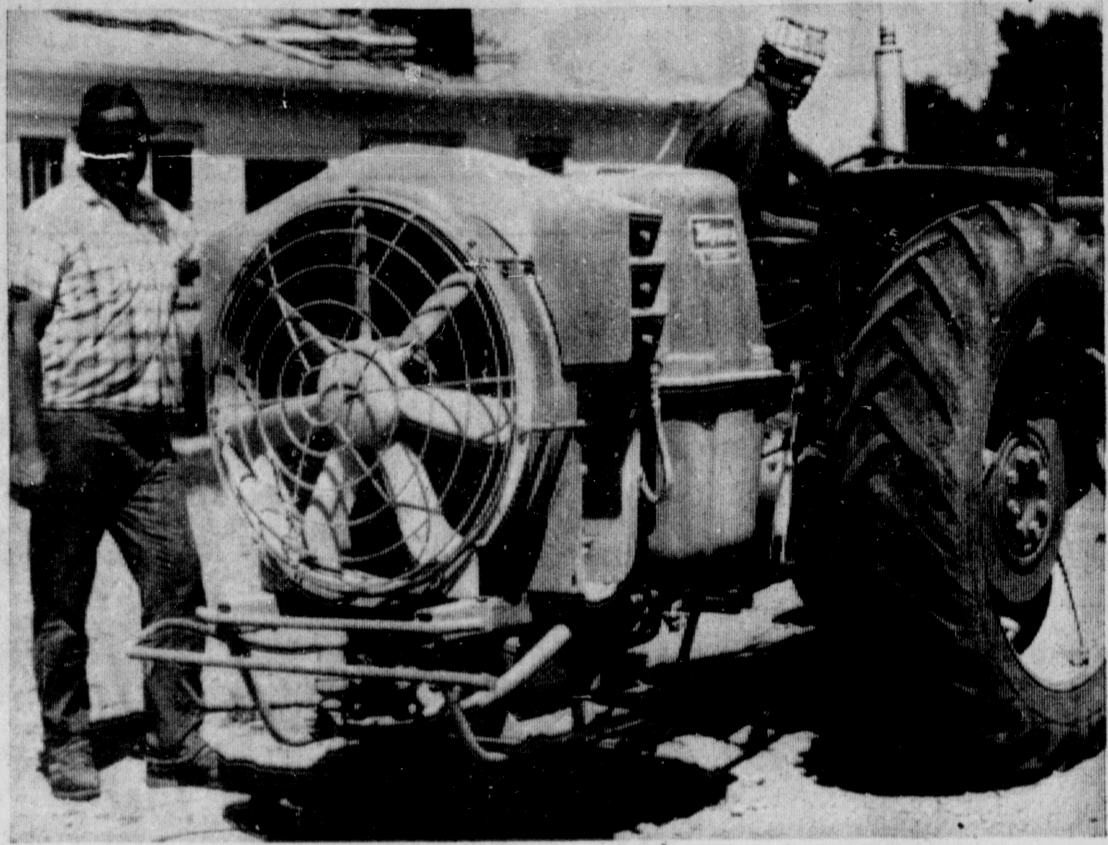

Sheriff's deputies arrested the two teen-agers Thursday night after answering reports that a bear was prowling the area. Deputies said they found one of the youths wearing the bear skin, his face shielded with a gas mask.

VALERE VANDAMME gives last minute instructions to hired hand Tom Lippens before starting the weekly potato spraying program. This is a completely new type of sprayer, the first of its kind in the county. It applies 10 gallons of concentrated spray material per acre compared to 100 gallons of a more diluted material in the older type sprayers. The large fan forces the spray material over a large area as it moves across the field. It takes about 6 minutes to cover one acre.

Potato Growing Becomes Work For Specialists

By J. L. HEIRMAN

Some 25 years ago in Delta County we had 40 farmers attempting to grow seed potatoes, and an equal number growing tablestock potatoes. Today we have fewer than 20 commercial potato growers all growing tablestock and buying their seed stock in other sections of the State, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The largest grower in terms of acres 25 years ago was about 20 acres today some are crowding 100 acres and its the only enterprise on the farm. All the efforts are put into the growing and marketing of one product. The day of cattle and potatoes on the same farm is rapidly coming to an end. It's difficult to be making hay for the cattle when the potatoes need spraying for insect and disease control.

Let's take a look at a typical potato grower, the 1970 model. In the spring of the year when the snow is about gone the grower has just finished shipping his last truck load of potatoes to market.

Planting In June

Sometime during the winter months he brought in his supply of fertilizer because at that time of the year he gets a discount and avoids the spring rush. The land that is going into potatoes probably has a cover crop on it which means that it must be plowed. He will not plow, however, until a week before planting and sometimes only a day before. He wants soft, mellow soil in which to plant—not hard compact as is often the case after heavy rains on bare soils. While waiting to plow and plant there are other things to do such as repair machinery and getting the seed conditioned for planting. The planting of the crop is finished early in June. What does the potato grower do the rest of the summer? Well, he must look ahead for next years planting so usually a hay crop is plowed under late in June.

It is cultivated during July and into August to control weed growth and then planted to a winter cover crop. During July and August a sound spraying program must be followed to control diseases and insects. In between sprayings he mostly likely will be doing some irrigation to provide adequate moisture and keep the crop growing. In September he can usually taper off on irrigation but the spraying must continue until frost kills the vines or the grower kills them with a chemical.

Highly Mechanized

Remember when rural schools would declare a week of potato picking vacation? Today almost 100 per cent of the potatoes are harvested by mechanical means and no more potato vacations. Some of the larger growers will require three weeks of harvesting time. When the potatoes are in storage he immediately starts grading out a few and packaging them for market. This is particularly true if the warehouse is a little crowded. When Nov. 15 rolls along its time for a few days vacation to try their luck at hunting deer. (Remember the venison suppers they use to put on for the businessmen?)

The rest of the winter is spent grading packaging and marketing the crop. This is a way of selling one's labor throughout the winter when other farm work is at a standstill with no cattle to care for. Potatoes are hauled hundreds of miles away to markets all over the mid-west and as far south as Louisiana. This is done by truck in contrast to rail cars years ago.

If you are interested in joining the group you could probably do so if you can put your hands on 100,000 dollars to buy the necessary land and equipment. There would be more costs later as one made improvements but it would be a start. Yes, the potato boys eat, sleep and talk potatoes 12 months of the year but they seem to enjoy it if the price is somewhere near right.

Headon Crash Takes 5 Lives

HASTINGS (AP) — Five persons, including four patients from a convalescent home, were killed Friday in a two-car collision just north of this Barry County town.

Sheriff's deputies said the near head-on crash on M43 caused one of the cars to burst into flame after the impact. They said one of the vehicles was on the wrong side of the highway.

Four of the victims died at the crash scene while one died in a hospital nearly four hours after. There was only one survivor and deputies said she was the driver of the car which crossed the centerline.

The victims were identified as: George R. Hallock, 45, of Hastings, driver of one of the cars; and the four patients, Lyle Dumont, 23, Howard Guy, 61, Richard Lumbert, 37, and Donald Curtis, 26, all of Rt. 2, Hastings.

The only survivor was identified by deputies as Edith Geraldine Cross, 55, of Rt. 2, Hastings. The woman, who deputies said operates a convalescent home, was listed in fair condition at a Grand Rapids hospital. No charges have been filed, deputies reported.

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J. (AP) — The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne, the secretary killed a year ago in an auto accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, attended an anniversary Mass early this morning in memory of their daughter.

Miss Kopechne died last July 18 when the car in which she was riding, driven by the senator, plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island near Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne arrived at the Roman Catholic church of the Little Flower here shortly before 7 a.m., with their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Al Stenforce.

Miss Kopechne is buried in Plymouth, Pa., near Wilkes-Barre. The accident in which she was killed occurred after a party on the island where several other young women, the senator and several Kennedy associates had gathered.

Milliken Praises National Guard

CAMP GRAYLING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken praised Michigan's National Guard for its professionalism and cautioned guardsmen "to use self restraint in the face of disorder."

The governor spoke at memorial ceremonies at Camp Grayling to honor the guard dead.

Milliken said the past year has been one of great turmoil, both at home and abroad.

"At home, we have witnessed more campus disorders and more racial disturbances throughout the country," the governor said.

"Troubled Times"

"These are troubled times, tragic times, truly the worst domestic crisis since the Civil War. And when tensions run high, as they are now running, disagreements often escalate from argument to violence."

Milliken said the police and military forces called to deal with this violence "must have professional training, rigid discipline, profound restraint and effective tactics."

Commend Progress

Policemen and guardsmen are human beings, the governor said, "and when insults are hurled at them by angry demonstrators, they can respond with anger."

Police and guardsmen must be professionals able to subdue their emotions, Milliken said.

"From what I have seen, I believe the Michigan National Guard is being moulded into this kind of organization — professional soldiers who can keep the public peace with the minimum use of force," the governor told the guard.

"I commend you for your progress and urge each of you to further improve your capacity for self restraint in the face of disorder," the governor said.

U.S. Generals Finding Risk At Peak Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — American generals in Vietnam run a greater risk of being killed on the battlefield than in any previous 20th Century war partly because they often travel to ill-defined battle zones to oversee troop movements.

Seven generals have been killed to date in Vietnam. Three perished when their helicopters or planes crashed after being struck by enemy groundfire.

Two were killed when their helicopters crashed. Another was picked off by a Viet Cong sniper. And an Air Force general died when the B52 in which he was riding collided with another big bomber during a Vietnam mission.

Veteran officers and military historians, noting the high number of battlefield deaths, cite the ill-defined battle lines of the guerrilla style conflict as part of the reason.

In World War I, World War II and Korea, they said, the action was fought along clearly identified lines. General officers rarely appeared on the front lines, they said, directing the operations from the rear by issuing commands over the telephone and radio.

But in Vietnam, where there is no battle line, a division or brigade commander may find his units widely dispersed and fighting as individual elements. Thus, the generals often have felt it necessary to fly in helicopters over the battlefields to monitor and direct the actions of troops under their command. They also have adopted a practice of making flying visits to units in the field.

But the helicopters also pose the additional danger of a fatal crash because of a mechanical malfunction or enemy groundfire.

Youth Group Hits Back At U.S., Russ

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Amid thundering applause, the World Youth Assembly demanded Friday that the United States withdraw from Indochina and that the Soviet Union pull its troops out of Czechoslovakia.

The 652 delegates approved the demands by an overwhelming show of hands and sent them in a letter to the U.N. General Assembly, which opens its 25th anniversary session in the fall.

The demand that the Soviets get out of Czechoslovakia was sponsored by the Israelis and was backed on to the letter as an amendment. It was approved 271-115 after heated wrangling, and balanced a strongly worded anti-American report placed in strong language letter, by the communist-dominated World Peace Commission.

Gladstone Man, 39, Drowns; Wife Saved

Norbert Carignan, 39, of 703 Michigan Ave., Gladstone, became Delta County's second drowning victim of the year Friday afternoon, but his wife, Katherine, was pulled to safety after she floundered in strong current and deep water attempting to go to his rescue.

State Police of the Gladstone Post said Carignan had been fishing near the Gladstone power plant with his wife and a cousin, Kathleen Carignan, when their boat capsized.

Officers said Carignan helped the women, who were both weak swimmers, to safety, then attempted to swim back to retrieve the boat.

He was unable to reach the boat due to strong undercurrents and high waves and went under in about 30 feet of water, officers said.

Mrs. Carignan tried to rescue her husband, despite the pleas of Kathleen Carignan that the water was too turbulent, and Kathleen ran to the power plant where she got help from Pat LaPine, 1417 Montana Ave., Gladstone, a college student working at the plant, officers said.

LaPine called State Police and then ran to the floundering Mrs. Carignan, LaPine told police that Norbert Carignan was not visible in the high swells and all he could do was drag Mrs. Carignan to shore.

Body Recovered

Carignan's body was recovered by skin divers at about 8 p. m. State Police, Sheriff's officers and conservation officers participated in the search.

Norbert Edward Carignan was born June 17, 1931, in Cornell and had resided in Gladstone for the past seven years.

Mr. Carignan was a member of All Saints Church of Gladstone and the International Paper Makers Union. He was employed as a back tender at the Escanaba Paper Co.

Huber Optimistic Over Campaign For Senate

Lenore Romney may be the current favorite to win the Republican nomination for the United States Senate, but State Sen. Robert Huber isn't going to be beaten easily.

Huber, former mayor of Troy and state senator from Oakland County for the past six years, stopped in Escanaba Friday on a flying tour of the Upper Peninsula and made it clear that his campaign is going to increase in intensity at the Aug. 4 primary draws nearer.

"It's going very well," he said, "And the feedback is most gratifying. I'm optimistic."

Two Campaign Points

Huber, unlike Mrs. Romney who is running her campaign against Democratic incumbent Sen. Philip Hart, has insisted from the start that his opponent is Mrs. Romney.

And he is running against her on two points — experience and bossism.

"She hasn't spent a minute in public office," he said, "and you have to learn government at the local level where the taxpayer is just 10 feet away when you are voting."

Before becoming a state senator, Huber spent six years as mayor of Troy and four years as a county supervisor.

As far as "bossism" is concerned, Huber said he's against it and particularly concerned that former Gov. George Romney, now secretary of Housing and Urban Development, would go so far as to "pick his own wife" for the Senate race.

"That's not why we have open primaries," he said.

Cites Oakland Vote

The Oakland County executive committee voted 25-11 against a consensus candidate, he said, but came out exactly the opposite at the convention because delegates were carefully hand picked.

As far as the Upper Peninsula is concerned, Huber said one of the major needs of the area is to improve the road system.

"The U.P. has to have main arteries of transportation," he said.

The number one issue in the nation, he said, is law and order — a problem that Sen. Hart suddenly awakened to see.

"Where has he been for the last 12 years," Huber asked.

Company President

Huber, who when not running for office or working in the Senate is president of Michigan Chrome & Chemical Co. of Detroit, arrived at the Escanaba Municipal Airport by private plane about 4 p.m. and met with newsmen and Republican County Chairman H. H. Dublede.

He said he would spend the time before the primary campaigning and said he "hoped" to be able to come back to the Upper Peninsula at least once more before the election.

Two Policemen Killed By Sniper

CHICAGO (AP) — Two white policemen working on a community friendship program were killed by sniper fire Friday night as they walked on a North Side baseball diamond where they had played with black youngsters the day before.

Sgt. James Severin, 38, and Patrolman Anthony Rizzuto, 37, were at the high-rise Cabrini Homes housing project to talk with neighborhood youths as part of the police department's program on community relations, police said.

The predominantly Negro housing development has been the scene of sporadic racial troubles. Policemen in that district call it "combat alley" because of its frequent disorders.

The two men were shot in the chest by high-powered rifles. A rescue attempt by other policemen was met with further volleys of gunfire from adjacent buildings, officers said.

"They started to open up on us. It was like a firefight," said Sgt. Edward Kijowski, one of the first policemen at the shooting scene.

Using a patrol car as a shield, two policemen dragged the fatally wounded men into squad cars and rushed them to nearby Henrotin Hospital, where they were pronounced dead.

The Rev. Dennis Kendrick, who is a pastor in the neighborhood, praised the two white policemen for their past efforts.

"Sgt. Severin . . . was a really good man. He was out there every day . . . and was really interested in the problems the people have here. He really understood what was happening and wanted to do something about it."

After the two slain policemen were taken away, more than 60 squad cars and a police helicopter converged on the scene.

U-M Plans Hike In Tuition Fees

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The regents of the University of Michigan approved tuition increases Friday in Ann Arbor that had been tentatively proposed in April.

The April figures boosted the Michigan resident undergraduate fees from $40 per credit hour to $47 and graduate tolls went up from $45 to $55. Non-resident tuition went from $129 to $150 for undergraduates and from $138 to $162 for graduate students.

The budget adopted by the regents amounted to $121,210,376 for the current fiscal year.

The university will receive $73.5 million from the state in funding approved last week by the Legislature. Gov. William Milliken requested $73.5 million while the university had asked for $84 million from the state.

The regents budget covers operation of the Flint, Ann Arbor and Dearborn campuses of the University. It picks up $34.2 million from student fees and $10.8 million from contracts for research with $9.3 million in other revenues.

The regents also approved the establishment of an Afro-American and African Studies Center at the Ann Arbor campus.

Using a patrol car as a shield, two policemen dragged the fatally wounded men into squad cars and rushed them to nearby Henrotin Hospital, where they were pronounced dead.

The Rev. Dennis Kendrick, who is a pastor in the neighborhood, praised the two white policemen for their past efforts.

Tech Announces Tuition Boost

HOUGHTON—The Michigan Tech University Board of Control has approved a $480-per-quarter tuition rate for out-of-state students, an increase of $105 over the 1969-70 rate.

The board noted that the action was necessary to comply with the state's non-resident tuition policy, which requires that out-of-state students pay 75 per cent of their instructional costs.

Cup Of Coffee Helps Pull 'Fur' Over Robber

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A 34-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, man, who walked away while a jury was deciding to convict him in a $19,000 fur robbery, was recaptured Friday as he drank coffee at a Grand Rapids hotel.

Police said David Willis walked away from court Thursday before a Circuit Court jury convicted him of armed robbery in a holdup at the Alaska Fur Co. here last Sept. 30.

Officials said Willis apparently left Grand Rapids and went to see his mother in Cleveland. But he returned here Friday and was apprehended while drinking coffee at a hotel, two blocks from the courthouse.

The jury also convicted Clarence Williams, 29, of Cleveland, on the same charge Thursday. Williams currently is serving a prison sentence for forgery in Ohio.

A third man who took part in the robbery has never been identified. The trio of gunmen threatened the store's customers and beat its furrier before fleeing with $235 in cash and $4 mink furs.

Willis and Williams were arrested the morning after the robbery when an Ohio state trooper stopped their car for traveling nearly 100 miles an hour near Toledo.

League Urges Census Check

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Michigan Municipal League has requested U.S. Census officials and Congress take prompt action to correct preliminary census count figures and postpone finalizing the census until errors are corrected.

In a statement issued Friday, Michael M. Glusac, president of the league, said the board of trustees reviewed a survey of 50 Michigan cities indicated that 36 of those queried received counts from one to three per cent lower than local projections.

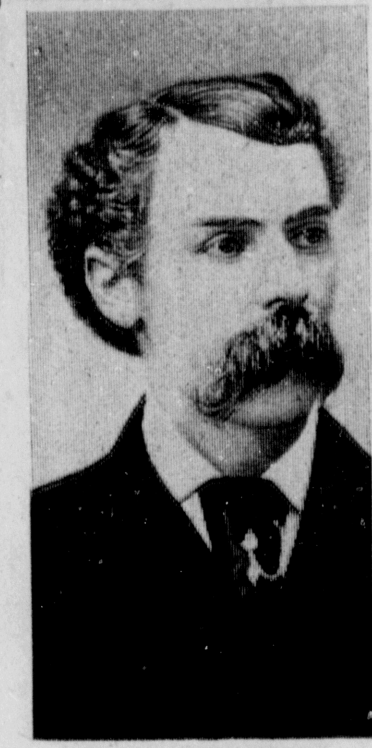

Glusac, corporate counsel for the City of Detroit, said that the failure to count even one resident could cost a municipality $250 in state revenues over the next decade.

The league has ask Governor Milliken and the state legislature to study the need for state action in connection with possible errors in the figures from the national census.

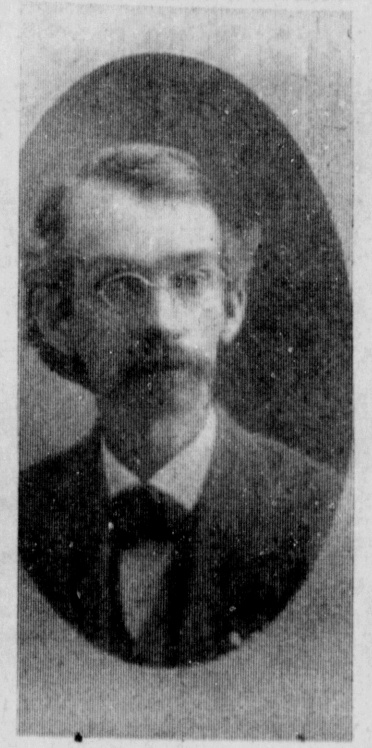

The league blamed the errors on "failures in the 1970 federal census to enumerate the citizens due to changes in the methods of conducting the census."

HUNGRY HYENA

BLANTYRE, Malawi (AP) — Large ragged holes extending right through the walls in two car tires baffled the car's owner. The holes were made while the auto was parked at Mlange airport. Experts from a major tire manufacturer examined the tires and decided they had been partly eaten by a hungry hyena.

THIS GENTLEMAN'S photo is from the collection in the Historical Museum, but he has yet to be identified. He is wearing a mustache, mod haircut, and granny glasses, circa 1890. If you can identify him, the Museum will welcome the information.

ELI P. ROYCE has with justification been called the "father of the City of Escanaba. He surveyed the town site for the N. Ludington Co. about 110 years ago, served as postmaster, probate judge, city engineer. Pictures of Royce and other pioneers are from the Delta County Historical Museum.

HENRY VAN DYKE was a landlooker and surveyor, came to Escanaba in the 1860's, and built one of the town's "show place" dwellings at 226 Lake Shore Drive. The house was razed to make room for a new one in 1957. His daughter, the late Hattie Van Dyke Farrell, gave many family mementoes to the Delta County Historical Society.

SIMON GREENHOOT, with his brothers Solomon and Julius, were partners in various enterprises in Escanaba in an earlier day, ranging from timberlands to mercantile. The Solomon Greenhoot home was a showplace in the town and still stands at 404 Lake Shore Drive.

Hairy As Well As Hardy Describes Our Pioneers

By SHARON HILTON

Many people today criticize the way young men look. Their hair is too long, they have beards and mustaches. They're hippies.

Should so much importance really be placed on one's hair style or the fact that a man has a beard or a mustache?

If one look back about a hundred years or so, you'll be surprised to see that the young men (and older ones, too) had hair styles, beards and mustaches very similar to those seen today. Old pictures of men that helped to found Escanaba show that nearly every one of them had a beard or a mustache; some had both. Many of them also had hair that was quite long and in some cases it was over their ears.

Beards and mustaches were the "in" fashion then as they are the "in" fashion among young men today.

Manhood, Dignity

Going back farther yet, in ancient times the beard was regarded as a mark of full manhood. Women who were unfortunate enough to grow beards were regarded as witches. The Egyptians shaved except in times of mourning but the Greek philosophers wore long beards because they thought a beard gave them more dignity.

The Jews, as a matter of religion, were required to wear a full beard; it was forbidden them to trim their beards in the manner of neighboring tribes. Later the Sikhs of the Punjab regarded the full beard (rolled up and pinned under the chin) as one of the essential requirements in a man.

Beards and mustaches have been fashionable at various times through the centuries. The most complete obliteration of the beard came in the 18th century, when even in Russia Peter the Great attempted to "Westernize" his countrymen by taxing beards.

Changing Customs

The return of the beard in the 19th century was at first associated with revolutionary politics and beards were disapproved of in various countries as emblems of dangerous opinion. However, numerous styles in beards flourished in America until the first half of the 20th century when shaving again became the custom.

At present the beard is a growing fashion in the United States, Canada, Australia and many European countries; and it seems in certain situations beards and mustaches become almost necessities.

An example is during deer hunting season. The men go to hunting camps to have a good time, get a deer — and see who can grow the longest and bushiest beard. Many of the hunters believe in the old superstition that if you don't grow a beard you won't get your deer.

The Hairy Treat

During Escanaba's centennial beards and mustaches were numerous. It was acceptable for prominent men of the city to have a beard or a mustache then because they were trying to look like the early settlers of Delta County.

Abraham Lincoln was a poor homely farm boy, trying to work his way up politically. He finally did become President and on his way to the White House grew a beard. This, many people said, made him appear more distinguished and improved his looks greatly.

Today many young men with beards and mustaches are put in a certain category and classified as hippies. Even though they may be neat in appearance these young men are often criticized by adults and labeled as disrespectful and untrustworthy.

Does a beard or mustache really have any bearing on these virtues? Does it make one less intelligent?

Many of the great men in history would never have made it if it did.

Radicals Use Universities, Says Sponberg

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern Michigan University President Harold E. Sponberg has told the President's Commission on Campus Unrest that radical students do not care to become members of the university community.

Testifying before the commission Friday, Sponberg said radical students wish to use all the university community's "resources and facilities for their own benefit."

"They prefer to attack, for whatever reason, the established university order and demand immediate and drastic reform."

Sponberg said "faculty control of the curriculum, the content of courses and the teaching of classes is the best guarantee of academic freedom and responsibility."

But, he said, "procedures for campus governance and constructive reform must be developed to provide more effective decision-making."

Sponberg said student concern about the war and military service "is readily understandable" but, he added, "We must not be so naive to believe that withdrawal from Southeast Asia will eliminate campus unrest."

We've seen too frequently that the concession or agreement on one demand merely leads to another."

Italians Rebuff Move To Whip Rome Council

ROME (AP) — The government has rebuffed a civic-minded butcher who wanted to rent the ancient Colosseum for the public whipping of Rome's city council.

The government said law No. 340 of March 30, 1965, allows use of the Colosseum only for artistic and cultural shows.

The Ministry of Public Instruction, to which the application was mailed, obviously did not consider the public flogging an artistic or cultural manifestation.

But Rome's independent Il Messaggero said a good whipping of public officials might actually be "a historic cultural event."

Rome's streets, still littered after repeated strikes of sanitation men during the first half of this year, prompted butcher Alberico Amati to propose his civic venture.

His letter started off: "Object: Colosseum."

If went on to explain that proceeds would go to the poor.

Amati cited as his legal precedent the laws of the "monsignor of the streets." That was the title used for sanitation men more than a century ago when Rome was part of the Papal states.

There still are inscriptions on old columns and walls around Rome signed by order of the monsignor of the streets. These warn against dumping litter "even on pain of corporal punishment."

Amati contended that the City Council might as well be blamed and that the poor might as well profit.

The seminars are sponsored by the Office of Economic Expansion of the Michigan Department of Commerce and the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission (UGLRC) of which the Governor is state co-chairman.

Lee Myers of Escanaba, executive director of the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress, and William Wilson of Marquette, executive director of Operation Action-U. P., also will participate in the panel discussion at Marquette.

The mayor ordered the Department of Parks and Recreation to halt the passing out and honoring of free golf passes for the city courses.

The mayor also ordered all pre-1964 model cars removed from the city fleet and called for a reduction in out-of-town business trips.

In addition, the mayor also said a 35-hour work week now used in some departments will be scrapped. He estimated the new programs will save the city some $130,000.

Times Change

The City of Gladstone and Habitant Shops, Inc., have a problem, at least according to a letter from Habitant President N. A. Eddy to the City Commission and the response of some of the commissioners.

Habitant is unhappy over enforcement of state laws regarding disposal of bark and slabs from its pre-fabricated fence operations in Gladstone, Mr. Eddy indicated in his letter. And the City of Gladstone is unhappy that Habitant has taken that attitude after what some commissioners feel has been an overly accommodating stance by the city toward the company for a number of years.

The exchange as quoted in the Delta Reporter went like this:

President N. O. Eddy — "It appears to us that the City of Gladstone has been a bit arbitrary in their attitude. Perhaps the same could be said of local Health authorities and the township. Obviously, dozens of other communities throughout Michigan have been a bit more understanding and tolerant where almost identical problems exist today.

"I have mentioned our new plant development at Stephenson. Plans are now being formulated for similar expansion at Gladstone with much engineering already completed and some equipment already installed. Given the proper 'economic climate' we have had plans for an expanding future at Gladstone.

Now, however, gentlemen, we are rather hesitant to proceed until we know better just where we stand. Prudent business judgement dictates we put a temporary "HOLD" on expansion plans until the economic air clears a bit."

Mayor Raymond Norton said "it's their waste problem and we shouldn't fool with them anymore. For nine years that I know of, we have been getting complaints on the smoke and we dragged our feet and tried to co-operate with Habitant." Arne Anderson said the city has "been in sympathy with Habitant for a long time, but this is a slap in the face."

That Habitant has a problem is not disputed. In the fence making operation there is bark and other waste for disposal. With the emphasis on environmental quality sweeping the nation, however, Gladstone residents in the Buckeye area are no longer willing to tolerate the burning that went on along the lake shore for years. And so Habitant has been forced into other methods of disposal and haven't been overly successful in locating place to dump. Residents complained about dumping the waste in a township area near Gladstone and the city decided it couldn't continue to allow industrial waste from Habitant to fill up the city landfill.

The company presently is dumping in an area off Skelton Rd., but according to Ray Gagnon, local manager, that area won't handle the waste material for long, forcing the company to look for another site. Gagnon said the company has been looking for property, going so far as to advertise for it, but hasn't been able to come up with an acceptable parcel as yet.

Meanwhile, he pointed out, Habitant has been searching for uses for the waste, rather than throwing it away. That, too, has been unsuccessful.

Gladstone, on the other hand, can't be responsible for industrial waste material. And with the environmental protection pressure on, the City Commission and local health authorities can't close their eyes to problems anymore.

The city has tried to cooperate. But the time has come for industry to recognize that satisfactory disposal of waste products is one of the costs of doing business. Mr. Eddy may feel that Gladstone should be more cooperative, but communications like his letter to the Commission don't solve any problems.

Gladstone, like all cities in the Upper Peninsula, is anxious to promote industrial development and to encourage expansion of its existing industry. But no longer can this be encouraged at any cost. The great debate that raged for nearly a year on the plans of Mead Corp. to construct a kraft pulp mill for its Escanaba Paper Co., is just one example of the public concern for the environment that is reaching into government at all levels.

An expansion of Habitant Shops, Inc., to use more raw material and employ more people would be welcomed in Gladstone and Delta County, but not at any expense to the community. The times have changed. The "good old days" are gone forever.

Peninsula Potpourri

Thirty members of the Ironwood Township Sportsmen's Club spent the other evening cleaning debris from the Lake Superior shoreline in Gogebic County. One full pickup truck load of debris was collected and hauled away by the volunteers.

Mrs. Paulina Kugler of Bruce Crossing is 89 years old, but she still drives a motorcycle, frequently traveling to Ironwood, Bergland or Mass on her "bike."

Quick action by passing boaters prevented possible tragedy at Hamilton Lakes in Dickinson County last Sunday. A boat operated by Debbie St. Vincent, 15, Rte. 1, Hamilton Lakes, had just left the dock when it exploded in fire. Three small children, ages 2, 4 and 5, and their mother, Mrs. Susan Kaminski, Norway, were passengers in the boat. Miss St. Vincent and Mrs. Kaminski threw the two older children, both wearing life preservers, into the water and held the young child while nearby boaters rushed to the scene to pull them to safety.

When a study by a Milwaukee firm, Ecotronics, Inc., is completed, the National Park Service will have environmental insight into the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore that it has nowhere else. Samples of water and measurements on air quality and noise levels will be taken and data obtained will be used as a basis for determining how the park should be developed with the minimum disturbance to the area's ecology.

VERY DISTURBING

Levin Working Hard To Become Governor

By DON HOENSELL
 Panax Staff Writer

LANSING—Sen. Sander M. Levin (D-Berkley) got his contact lenses because they improved his shooting eye in YMCA basketball games.

He doesn't play basketball for any known political purpose.

Levin's hairdo has always dropped over his forehead and the mod clothes he wears now befit a Democratic candidate for governor who wants to relate to life as it is lived.

Thus he refutes the only major Republican charge against him—that he can play basketball better with contact lenses and he wears suits that don't shine at the knees and seat.

Impatient One

Levin is giving another dimension of tenacity to the race for governor. He wants it badly because he sincerely believes he can do the job better and because his family thinks so, too.

There is U. S. District Judge Theodore Levin, State Appeals Court Judge Charles L. Levin, and Carl Levin, a Detroit City Councilman, all related. Carl Levin is a brother.

Sandy is the impatient one now, as much for the goals for Michigan as for the goals he sees for himself. Everyday is yesterday for Sandy, the time when things should have been done.

He can't understand why people don't work 24 hours a day. He tries to and the staff he recruited was required to profess ignorance of clocks and calendars.

Levin was educated at the University of Chicago, Columbia University and Harvard Law School. The fat fees of a labor lawyer might have been enough.

But money and headlines weren't enough and this graduate of three prestigious universities went for the chairmanship of the Oakland county Democratic committee as though it were the Holy Grail.

Strains At Leash

He won like Ted Williams could hit a home run in the Little League. He was straining at the political leash as he built the Oakland county organization.

As the campaign started for the 1964 season, August

Scholle, state AFL-CIO president and long a state power in Democratic politics, said: "We're very fortunate to have Sandy Levin running for the State Senate from Oakland county. I've never known a man who would be better for state government."

Sandy won in 1964 and went to the Senate. He won a four-year term in 1966 and became minority leader—the leader of the loyal opposition who assigned himself to placing burrs under the majority Republican saddle.

Calls For Action

Levin, a proud Jew, operates in the tradition of the Irish Catholic Kennedys. Life and political achievements perhaps make things bearable, but everything could be better.

His campaign signs shout: "Michigan needs a leader." It's his major attack against Gov. Milliken, whom he criticizes as a nice guy but short on leadership.

Levin calls for "dramatic action" by state government to meet Michigan's need in 11 areas when the legislature returns Aug. 6. He slams Milliken for failing to recruit GOP votes to get the job done.

Levi calls for reduction of

MSU Trustees Boost Tuition

EAST LANSING (AP)—Trustees of Michigan State University meeting in East Lansing Friday approved a tuition increase for Michigan resident students of $1 per credit hour which raises the undergraduate charge from $13 to $14 per hour.

Non-resident undergraduate students will face a hike from $31 to $33 per credit hour, a two-dollar raise.

The increases, along with graduate tuition boosts, were approved by a 5-3 vote with Don Stevens, Blanch Martin, Ken Thompson, Frank Merriam and Stephen Nisbet supporting the move. Voting against the measure were Warren Huff, Clair White and Frank Hartman.

Graduate student increases will be two dollars for Michigan residents, up from $13 to $15 per credit and three dollars for non-residents, increasing their rate from $31 to $34.

The trustees also approved faculty salary increases by an average of 7.8 per cent, raising MSU costs a total of $2,775,300. Fringe benefits for faculty will add an additional $289,530 to the cost total.

The faculty raises are retroactive to July 1.

In other action, a National Science Foundation grant of $647,900 was accepted and earmarked for systems science for environmental research.

'Rifleman' Was Man & Broom

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Police raced to the Tarrant County courthouse Friday night and surrounded the building after a caller reported man with a rifle atop the courthouse dome.

Policemen closed in and found the "rifleman" was a workman with a broom.

He was resetting the courthouse clock.

school property taxes, fairer state taxes, more effective law enforcement, more effective drug laws, legislation to better control industrial pollution.

He attacks rising medical costs, urged education reform, more help from the cities, consumer protection in greater measure, housing and political reform.

Talk Doesn't Help

Generalities, certainly, but Levin can hand you white papers and bills ready for final drafting on everything he proposes. It's a canard that he once introduced a dry cleaning receipt.

Yes, Levin generalizes: "All the talk in the world about legislative accomplishments isn't going to mean much to the thousands of Michigan residents who are feeling the effects of state government failures every day," he said.

Challenge the generalities and he'll come up with research in detail that will convince.

"I'm going to use these last weeks of the primary campaign to do what I believe the governor should have been doing," he said.

Works At Job

"The role of the governor is to build up majorities to pass good legislation, not to water down legislation until you get a majority," he said. "I'm going to try to build majorities." Levin works at his job when other people work at theirs, and when they don't.

The midnight oil burns brightly for his staff and that's OK because his staff knows that the boss is out there somewhere working harder.

Opening lead—two of spades. While it is good practice for declarer to always plan his play in advance, he must also remember that he is not playing in a vacuum and that he has real, live opponents who will not simply twiddle their thumbs as he attempts to execute his plan.

East won the spade lead with the ace. Since his partner had led the deuce, showing a four-card suit, he could place declarer with three spades. Accordingly, East returned a trump to try to stop a spade ruff.

Declarer won in dummy and led back a spade, taken by West who also returned a trump. South later took a losing club finesse and went down one when East led a third round of spades.

It should have been apparent to declarer at trick two that the defenders were determined to stop a spade ruff in dummy, and that a spade return from dummy at trick three was an empty gesture that would lead absolutely nowhere.

Instead, South should have won East's trump return at trick two in his own hand and followed with a club finesse at trick three. True, the jack would have been lost to East's queen, but when it later turned out that the clubs were divided 3-3, South would have ended with ten tricks consisting of six hearts, three clubs and a diamond.

In effect, by leading a spade at trick three, South had staked the contract on a club finesse. While the finesse might have succeeded and brought home the contract, declarer was guilty of putting all his eggs in this one basket.

Obviously, the better line of play is to try the club finesse at trick three instead of later on, since this gives South two chances to make the contract instead of one.

FORESTS AN ASSET

The supplement to Panax Newspapers "It's great to live, work, play, learn, invest, travel Upper Michigan" which appeared in the Escanaba Daily Press, Friday, July 3, was well done. It should help others to become acquainted with the tremendous assets of this beautiful Upper Peninsula.

Another of Upper Michigan's great assets was not mentioned; the two National Forests — the Hiawatha and the Ottawa. These National Forests play a significant role in providing attractions to Upper Michigan for a wide variety of Forest products.

National Forests in Upper Michigan contain a little over one and three-quarter million acres of timber, lakes and streams for public use, both tangible and intangible. Clear air, clear water for municipalities and water sports; wood for industry; fish and game for the sportsmen; a great variety of outdoor recreation opportunities; miles of trails for hiking, riding and snowmobiling; and vast areas for peace and solitude are in abundance in the National Forests of the Upper Peninsula.

The annual allowable harvest of 265,750 cords of wood from these two National Forests supports several wood-using industries. The yield is increasing.

There are 79 developed National Forest camp and picnic grounds, with a capacity of nearly 1,500 families at one time, within these two forests. These facilities attract tourists from all over and add greatly to the economic base of the Upper Peninsula. These facilities are compatible with and complement developments and service facilities on private land.

There are many other values and I'm sure you can see that the National Forests certainly help make Upper Michigan the great place to live, work, play, learn, invest and travel.

Information about the National Forests would make a very worthwhile supplement to Panax Newspapers. We'd be happy to provide it.

Golf Balls Not Part Of Children's Fun

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell the parents who read your column to warn their children against cutting open golf balls to see what's inside. A child in our neighborhood did a little "investigating" yesterday and he was horribly injured. I don't want to go into detail but the boy will never look the same.

Kids don't realize that the center of the ball sometimes contains sulfuric acid as well as zinc sulfide and other materials which can be harmful. You do a lot of good, Ann. Here's a chance to do a little more. Pass this along. — Lafayette, Indiana

Dear Lafayette: I'm passing it on. And now I hope millions of parents will mention this to their small fry—especially the bright ones with inquisitive minds.

Dear Ann Landers: It happened again Wednesday and I decided this time I would sit down and write to Ann Landers. My husband and I attended the funeral of a dear friend. She was in her 60's and had been ailing for quite some time. As we stood in a small group outside the funeral chapel several neighbors and acquaintances exchanged small pleasantries, mostly about what a wonderful woman she was—how many acts of kindness she had performed for others. Repeatedly we heard this sentiment expressed: "I was going to see her tomorrow..." "If I had known she was so sick I surely would have gone to see her..."

When will people realize that tomorrow is promised to no one? Why must sorrow come before we realize the transitory nature of life? Why can't we try to be kind to ease someone's burden? Those of us who are well and able to do for others should stop for just a moment and think "I am fortunate. What can I do for someone who is not so lucky?"

I'll bet if you print this letter almost everyone who reads it will wonder if he is the guilty one. Sincerely—A Friend
 Dear Friend: Here's your letter — and those readers who find that the shoe fits, I hope they put on a pair and walk over to see someone they've been meaning to visit—"one of these days."

Dear Ann Landers: I married a man four years ago. It was my first marriage, his second. He gained custody of his son who was then eight years of age. Buddy is now 12.

Three weeks ago my husband died of a heart attack. It was a terrible shock. He had never been ill. Buddy was very close to his dad and I was worried sick that he would go to pieces. He surprised us all by being the most stoic one in the family.

Last night Buddy came to my bedroom about 11:30 p. m. He was missing his dad and wanted to sleep with me. I said yes, although I wasn't sure it was the right thing to do. I asked my sister about it this morning. She said there was nothing wrong in letting the boy in my bed until he gets over his grief. May I have your opinion?—Not certain

Dear Not: A 12-year-old boy should not be sleeping with his mother or any other female. When he came to your bedroom you should have taken him to the kitchen for a glass of warm milk and a little talk. I realize several days have elapsed since you wrote to me. If the boy has been sleeping with you I urge you to put an end to the practice at once. It could lead to trouble. Counseling might be useful if Buddy continues to show signs of continuing grief.

Give in or lose him... when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" ## Big Tree Would Build 3 Houses

PE ELL, Wash. (AP) — A spruce tree, 16 feet 4 inches in diameter at the base and hundreds of years old, was cut recently by a logging crew.

Bernard Smith, woods boss for the Weyerhaeuser Co., said the tree would provide enough usable lumber to build more than three average size houses. It takes about 15,000 board feet of lumber to build an average house.

His Hobby Is Raising Grouse

ONE OF PETERSON'S adult ruffed grouse flies out of its pen to accept a handout of red currents picked from one of numerous shrubs, trees, and vines in Peterson's yard.

BY KENNETH S. LOWE
IRON MOUNTAIN — The ruffed grouse is so much a creature of the wild that only a few men anywhere have ever succeeded in raising them from captive birds.

Charles D. Peterson of Iron Mountain is one of the few. A game bird fancier since childhood when he started breeding pheasants, Peterson has been raising ruffed grouse in captivity successfully for about 10 years and well may be the nation's foremost breeder of these birds.

Although it is not unusual for ruffed grouse to be raised from eggs taken from the wild, Peterson says he knows of only three or four men in the United States who are now raising the birds from eggs laid by hens in captivity.

Mated In Wild
It all started for him 11 years ago when he brought home from a hunting trip a female ruffed grouse he had shot in the wing. The following spring, the bird laid 11 infertile eggs. Peterson decided to mate the bird the next year in hopes of obtaining fertile eggs.

But how? Peterson knew that ruffed grouse males that had been captured in the wild would not mate in captivity. And, of course, he was unable to locate any male that had been reared in captivity.

The solution suggested itself one spring morning when Peterson heard a cock grouse drumming on the 80-acre tract he owns near Merriman north of here. A few mornings later, he released his wing-clipped hen in the woods near the drumming log and recaptured her after she had mated with the wild grouse.

The result: 18 eggs, of which 14 hatched and seven chicks survived. Peterson has been raising ruffed grouse in captivity every spring since then.

$60 Per Female
The following spring, he mated the captive hen with a male from her brood of the previous year. The chicks he is raising this year are from the same strain that began with the wing-shot hen and the wild drumming male.

The hen survived in captivity for six years, and in the course of that time Peterson began selling grouse to aviculturists throughout the country.

He has raised as many as 37 chicks in a year. The males bring $40 apiece and the females $60, but Peterson, who is a project coordinator for Lake Shore, Inc., raises the birds as a hobby rather than for profit.

Some of his grouse have been bought for restocking wild areas and some have been sold to a shooting preserve. Peterson believes it's possible to restock grouse successfully providing hunting is eliminated until the birds have established themselves. He said grouse born in captivity retain their fear of predators and will freeze if a crow flies over their pens.

Uses Incubator

Grouse raised by Peterson have been shipped to points from Massachusetts to California and from Louisiana to Oregon. He also has shipped live grouse to Ireland and eggs to Scotland, England and Italy. He is still the only breeder who has offered grouse eggs for hatching from pen-reared stock.

Now Peterson uses an incubator to hatch the eggs in order to avoid pen losses. The eggs are taken from the mother and placed in an incubator. Peterson designed himself. Temperature remains constant at 99 degrees until the eggs hatch.

Peterson said hen grouse coo softly to themselves while laying eggs and brooding. Males do not drum in captivity because they see or hear the penned females and don't have to resort to drumming to call them.

Young grouse are fed all-purpose pellets containing wheat, corn, cod liver oil, vitamins and antibiotics. They also receive greens. Adults get the same foods, along with dried carrots, apples and various kinds of fresh berries.

Spruce Grouse Also

In fact, Peterson raises a host of fruit-bearing shrubs and trees in a continuing grouse food experiment on his 200 by 350-foot lot on the shores of Lake Antoine here. The property is a horticultural wonder. The harvest includes high bush cranberries, wild grapes, gooseberries, red currants, crab apples, thorn apples, mountain ash berries, Juneberries, honeysuckle berries, sand cherries, nanny berries ("grouse are crazy about nanny berries"), buffalo berries, autumn olives, arrowwood berries, black cherries, coral berries and pin cherries.

Born and reared in Iron Mountain, Peterson has always been fond of hunting ruffed grouse, but his game bird breeding isn't restricted to this species.

At present he also is trying to raise spruce grouse and capercaillies, the world's largest grouse.

"The spruce grouse is a challenge," Peterson remarked. "No one has ever succeeded in raising them in captivity."

First In U. S.

This spring, Peterson had 12 capercaillie eggs shipped to him from Sweden. They were placed on a plane there on a Saturday and reached Iron Mountain the following Monday.

Only one of the eggs hatched, and the chick is still surviving.

"So far as I know, it's the first capercaillie ever hatched in the United States," Peterson said.

But no matter how successful he may be in raising these huge birds, ruffed grouse will continue to be his first love as a bird fancier.

McLaughlin Ends Military Career

YUMA, Ariz. — Chief Warrant Officer Harold J. McLaughlin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. McLaughlin Sr., 512 N. 19th St., Escanaba, will retire from the U.S. Army July 31.

The 20-year plus veteran has served as Commanding Officer of the U.S. Army Meteorological Team at Yuma Proving Ground, Ariz., since Sept. 10, 1968.

He entered the Army in 1949 and served for three years as a gunner with the Coast Artillery Corps in Alaska. In January, 1953, he left the Army and held civilian positions with Ford Motor Co. in Detroit and later at Anthony & Co. in Escanaba.

McLaughlin returned to the Army in Oct. 1953, serving in Artillery assignments at Itazuke Air Force Base, Japan. In 1955 he entered the meteorology field and completed overseas tours in Germany and Korea.

He received an appointment to warrant officer in Field Artillery at Ft. Lewis, Wash. on July 10, 1967.

He is a graduate of both the Meteorology School at Camp Moore, Japan, and the Metro-logy School at Ft. Sill, Okla. Prior to his assignment as commanding officer of the Met Team he served in Vietnam with the 2nd Battalion, 32nd Artillery as a meteorology technician.

Harold J. McLaughlin Jr.

He has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal, National Defense Service Medal with oak cluster, Good Conduct Medal, the Vietnamese Campaign Medal and the Vietnamese Service Medal.

McLaughlin is married to the former Betty J. Ness of Escanaba. The couple, with their three children, Colleen, Cindy Ann and Daniel, plan to live in Escanaba.

All-Winter Lake Traffic Possible But Impractical

WASHINGTON (AP) — Year-around operation of the St. Lawrence Seaway is technically possible but of dubious economic merit, the Army Corps of Engineers has determined in a five-year study.

The 1,200-mile seaway, running from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Duluth, Minn., normally closes because of ice from mid-December until early April.

Shipping interests have asked that the season be extended to 12 months, if possible, to assure smooth schedules for overseas customers. Business interests around the Great Lakes also favor an extension. "Winter navigation on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway is considered to be technically possible; however, the economic feasibility of such an operation remains to be firmly established," the report said.

It said existing year-around car ferry operations had proven the worth of open-water ice-breaking capability even in such difficult winter areas as the Straits of Mackinac and across Green Bay.

"However, none of the methods yet developed appear to offer a practical and economical solution to the primary problem of winter navigation on the Great Lakes: that of coping with the tremendous quantities of wind-driven pack ice that can shift in a matter of hours to block navigation lanes with extensive fields several feet thick and winds up to 30 feet deep that cannot be breached except by the heaviest icebreakers or explosives," the report said.

In conclusion, the report stated it would be impractical to undertake a sudden major expansion of the navigation season, and recommended a gradual approach, instead.

Women Share Tourney Lead

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Jan Ferraris and Jo Anne Carner, using different methods Friday to share the first round lead in the $20,000 LPGA Jaycee Open Golf Tournament, agreed it would take 208 to win the event.

Miss Ferraris flashed a brilliant putter — she used only 26 strokes on the greens — and Mrs. Carner found her touch from tee to green for opening four-under-par 69s at the 6,421-yard Northwood Hills Country Club.

"I'm not very good on predictions," Miss Ferraris, 23, of San Francisco, said. "Probably about eight under (208) will do it."

Mrs. Carner, who played with Jan, nodded in agreement. One stroke back at 70 heading into today's second 18 holes ole Skala and Lesley Holbert.

Another shot back at 71 came Judy Rankin and Mary Mills. Sandra Palmer, Jo Ann Prentice, Beth Stone and Betsy Rawls were deadlocked at 72, one shot ahead of defending champion Marlene Bauer Hagge.

Hunt To Continue For Lansing Girl

LANSING (AP) — With little progress reported nine days after the baffling abduction of a pretty teen-ager, Lansing police chief Serold Husby says the intensive manhunt to find Laurie Murningham will continue until all possible leads are exhausted.

"We will continue our massive efforts until all the information we have at this time is eliminated," a weary Husby told newsmen Friday.

Miss Murningham, the 16-year-old daughter of former mayor Max E. Murningham, was kidnapped July 9 from the Lansing gift and antique shop where she worked parttime.

Her kidnapper, described as a young Negro man wearing a Van Dyke beard, took $64 from the shop and whacked proprietor Christine Gallagher over the head with his gun.

Casper Grabs Classic Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Billy Casper pondered the question for about 10 seconds. Why is he one of the most consistent players on the professional golf tour?

"I think it's because I'm a well rounded golfer," said Casper after carding a 33-34-67 for a 36-hole total of 135 to take the lead in the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic. "I don't have to rely on one area of my game," Casper explained. "When one area is weak another gets stronger. Something always seems to pickup where the other leaves off."

Casper's five-under-par 67 Friday along with his first-round 68 left him nine-under-par for 36 holes, a one-stroke lead over Charles Coody of Abilene, Tex., who has put together two rounds of 68 for a 36-hole total of 136 over the 6,615-yard White-marsh Valley Country Club course.

Husky Bob Murphy of Jacksonville, Fla. carried his 212-pound frame to a two-under-par 70 in the second round and a tie at 137 with PGA champion Ray Floyd, who fired a four-under-par 68 to go with his initial day 69. Australia's Bruce Crampton and Bunky Henry of Valdosta, Ga. are bracketed at 138 as 73 made the cut of 146 for the final two days of the 72-hole tournament. Crampton shot a 67 and Henry 69 Friday.

Driver Predicts Hydro Victory

PASCO, Wash. (AP) — Bill Muncy, in Myr's Sheet Metal, and Dean Chenoweth, in Miss Budweiser, are battling for the national hydroplane racing championship—but Leif Borgersen says his boat, Notre Dame, is the one to beat in the Atomic Cup here.

"We're flat out going out there to win," the tall, handsome Seattle driver said Friday. "We've got a winner but we've got to prove it."

Borgersen's engine problems have plagued the boat so far this year, accounting for its third-place status behind Myr's and Bud. But he said he hoped the calm waters of the Columbia River would be an advantage.

Nine boats were in the pit area Friday and two or three more were expected to arrive in time for the draw for first heat racing late Saturday. The championship will be run over the 2½-mile course here Sunday.

Supreme Court Rules Out Fees For School Textbooks

Liam Ager of Washtenaw County in his ruling on May 10, 1968. Ann Arbor had been charging a "general fee," payable upon enrollment, that ranged from $1 for a kindergarten student to $10 for high school students.

In addition there were "more than 50" other fees, said Arthur Carpenter, Attorney for Mrs. Bond and Fusfeld. Those were assessed as "materials tickets" and for enrollment in special courses. The funds covered supplies for industrial arts, home economics and the like.

Ann Arbor school officials said Friday that the system began phasing out all fees while the issue was going through the courts.

"Optional Coupon"

Ralph Lajeunesse, comptroller for the city's two high schools, said an "optional coupon" book still is available for student purchase. It allows admission to athletic events at a reduced price. Students who choose not to buy it otherwise must pay public admission prices.

Judge Ager, in his 1968 opinion, held interscholastic athletic and special course fees were unconstitutional, but refused to bar the system from requiring students to buy books.

That issue, and the meaning of "free public" education went on through the State Appeals Court, which upheld Ager.

In reversing the lower courts, the Supreme Court decided "it is not necessary to resort to extrinsic evidence to determine the meaning of that word."

It noted, however, that the subject went almost undiscussed during the 1961 Constitutional Convention. That omission led the lower courts to conclude districts could charge for books.

Idaho Case Recalled
But the Idaho Supreme Court held earlier this year that a high school student there could not be denied a transcript of grades because he refused to pay $25 for books and activities. The Idaho court found such a requirement in conflict with the Idaho constitution, which was very much like Michigan's.

"It is clear that books and school supplies are an essential part of a system of free public elementary and secondary schools," the Michigan court found.

In ordering the refund, the court stipulated that four years of legal and litigation fees would have to be paid first.

"Both sides undoubtedly conceive themselves to be proceeding in the public interest," the opinion said. "... some balance must be struck so that the side prevailing is not compelled to bear the burdensome costs of achieving a favorable decision."

No Violations

In another case, the high court ruled that the Michigan Teachers' Tenure Act does not violate either the State or U.S. Constitution.

Scott Munro, whose teaching contract was not renewed by the Elk Rapids School District, contended that his constitutional rights of due process were violated because the District Board of Education did not make known the reason why he would not be rehired for the 1968-69 school year.

The Supreme Court ruled to the contrary, refusing to grant Munro's request that a Court of Appeals decision in his case be reversed and that the district be required to rehire him.

Sheriff Admits Dog Violation

MANISTIQUE—Sheriff Lloyd Gray admitted Friday that he was issued a dog violation ticket by Dog Warden Ed Jones, that his dog was not wearing a collar with license or vaccination tags, but declared "I could have gone to court on this issue and had it dismissed after showing proof of the license and shots."

Gray did not, however, say why he refused to sign his own ticket and turn it in to District Court.

Gray's remarks were contained in a statement he released to WTIQ and broadcast Friday afternoon and were in reference to a disclosure by Jones which was published in Thursday's edition of the Escanaba Daily Press. Jones said he resigned as dog warden because the sheriff (his supervising officer) refused to accept a dog ordinance violation ticket on his (Gray's) dog.

Gray's statement said in part: "I was not at home at the time the ticket was issued. He wrote the ticket in my office. I admit the dog did not have his collar on with the tags. My father-in-law was with the dog outside all the time he was out."

Dog Is Licensed

He added that his dog is licensed and vaccinated and defended his respect for the law as a 23-year law enforcement officer.

"If my dog had been running at large or any other violation, I would not say a word about it," the statement said.

The sheriff concluded by saying, "I could have gone to court on this issue and had it dismissed after showing proof of the license and shots."

Jones, in reply to Gray's remarks, said he had "three questions for Mr. Gray."

"Has he signed his own ticket? Has he submitted it to District Court for recording? Is he now the judge in Schoolcraft County to decide right and wrong?"

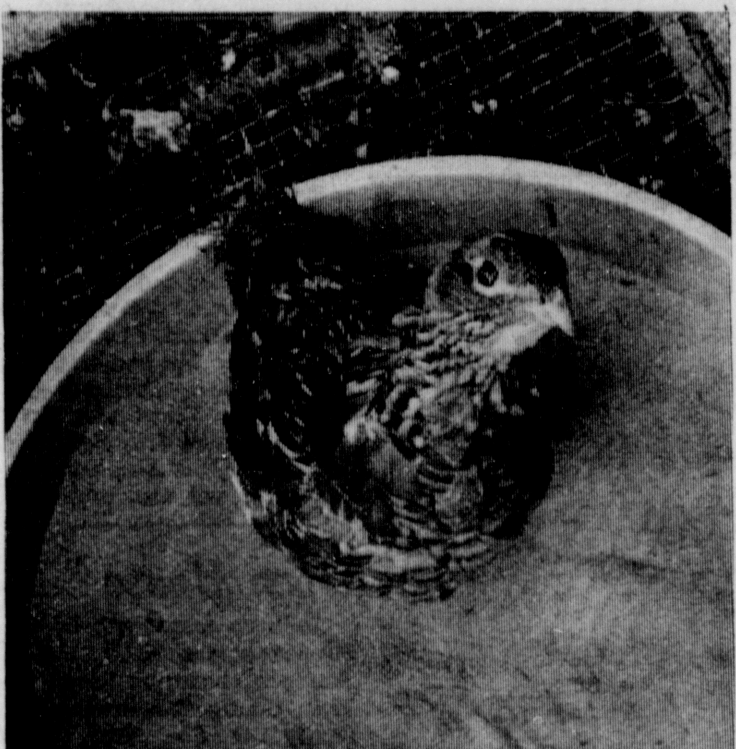

As supervising dog enforcement officer, Gray signs all tickets before they are sent to District Court when violators must appear.

Cited Statute
Jones said he cited Gray under Section 7 of the 1919 state dog ordinance which provides that a dog must wear collar and tags at all times except when hunting. He also said he had issued two warnings to the sheriff before he wrote the ticket last Monday.

"Mr. Gray should submit his ticket to the court and he should have submitted it last Monday. Whether or not it would be dismissed is up to the judge," Jones said.

"Mr. Gray clearly admitted by his own statement that his dog was not wearing a collar with tags. The law also clearly states that any officer who does not enforce the state dog law of 1919 is subject to a $100 fine and 90 days in jail. Mr. Gray is in violation (of this law) and by stopping his own ticket from going to court, I had to issue the ticket by law, or be subject to a fine and jail sentence," Jones concluded.

Topless Grandma Exchanges Vows At Nightclub

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — It is safe to say Margie Grant is a somewhat improbable grandma. A divorcee, Mrs. Grant was married for the second time recently in a topless wedding at a nightclub where she works as a bare-bosomed waitress.

A 37-year-old of statuesque proportions, red hair and sparkling green eyes, she carries around a wallet bearing the inscription "Something to Brag About."

Inside are pictures of her five children, her son-in-law, and her first grandchild, born June 8.

"People who come in the place think its a blast to be waited on by a topless waitress," she said. "And then when I tell them its grandma Margie—that really blows their minds."

Mrs. Grant, whose 16-year first marriage ended in divorce, is remarkably well-preserved for a grandmother with children ranging in age up to 19.

She says her measurements are 42-24-36 and at the slightest provocation will produce a tape measure to prove it.

Her second husband, a 27-year-old security guard at an amusement park, was a customer who used to drop in once a week.

He expressed qualms when Margie breached the idea of taking her marriage vows in working garb, but she talked him around.

She appeared for an interview wearing heavy makeup, rhinestone bikini panties, high heels and dark hose. Later she donned a see-through blouse.

Mrs. Grant has been a topless waitress four years. "The customers are such nice people," she said.

"Sometimes the young men will ask me out to breakfast, I tell them, sorry, but I've got a kid you should be dating. I'm a grandmother. They are so cute when they sit there blinking."

NEA Priorities
Mrs. Bain listed as NEA priorities, in addition to human relations: 2. Securing professional negotiations laws in every state. 3. Working for passages of state laws providing teacher autonomy. 4. Finding a way to achieve meaningful and significant student involvement in our society. 5. Leading the fight to get adequate school financing.

Mrs. Marlene Harris is a junior high English and Home Economics teacher at the Powers-Spalding School. MRS. DILJA D. HURKMANS, seated, front row, is pictured with her nine daughters. In addition to the daughters, she also has six sons. On Aug. 1 she will celebrate her 79th birthday. ## Roxanne Studt Bride Of Gerald R. Groll

White gladioli and blue carnations adorned the candlelit altar of Central United Methodist Church Saturday, July 11 for the wedding of Roxanne Studt and Gerald R. Groll.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John O. Studt of Corunna and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Groll of Stratford Drive, Owosso, formerly of Fayette.

Indian Silk
The Rev. Thomas Wood officiated at the service. The bride escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of imported Indian silk and hand-cut lace. Deep scallops of lace edged the tiers which formed her skirt and lace also fashioned her long-sleeved, high collared bodice. Her chapel train of silk was also lace trimmed.

She wore a bouffant veil secured by a headpiece of flower petals with pearls and crystals and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and red sweetheart roses.

Theresa J. Studt attended her sister as maid of honor. She was attired in a powder blue crepe empire gown with flared skirt and accented with a royal blue velvet ribbon streamer. A matching bow secured her veil and she carried one long stemmed red rose.

Turquoise Ribbons
Wearing similar gowns, accented with turquoise velvet ribbons were bridesmaids, Kris Groll, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Donald Coffman.

Nancy Groll of Fayette, a cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a miniature replica of the bridesmaids' gowns and carried a basket of rose petals and chrysanthemums. Ringbearer was Steven Groll, brother of the bridegroom.

Darryl Thill of Grand Rapids, attended his cousin as best man and serving as groomsmen and ushers were Fred Kurrie and Donald Coffman.

Mother's Attire
Mrs. Studt attended her daughter's wedding wearing an aqua silk sleeveless sheath with a white lace coat. She was presented a corsage of white chrysanthemums and yellow sweetheart roses. Mrs. Groll chose a pink double-knit sheath dress beaded at the collar and sleeves. Her flowers were white chrysanthemums and pink sweetheart roses.

Special Guests
Corsages of white chrysanthemums were given the special guests, Mrs. Claude Studt, paternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Lester Groll, paternal grandmother of the bridegroom and Mrs. Anna Leckson, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom.

Before leaving on a wedding trip through Northern Michigan and to Niagara Falls, N. Y. the new Mr. and Mrs. Groll received 200 guests at a reception in the ZCJ Hall.

Upon their return, they will reside at 1000 E. Main St. Owosso. He is employed by the A&P Grocery as Dairy department manager.

Special Film Showing Tuesday At Calvary

Man's astonishing senses are the subject of, "Windows of the Soul," one of the series of Sermons from Science films produced by Moody Institute of Science. This film will be shown at Calvary Baptist Church Tuesday evening, July 21, beginning at 8:30 p. m. in the parking lot behind the church.

The topsy-turvy world as seen by our eyes is demonstrated by Dr. Irwin Moon, producer, as he wears a special pair of inverting spectacles. These glasses make everything appear upside down and in reverse. After some days the brain adjusts to the situation and everything again appears right side up. To show his mastery of his handicap Dr. Moon was able to drive a motorcycle and fly a plane.

Featured demonstrations of ultrasonics, the new science of silent sound, emphasize the limitations of the human senses. The energy of silent sound is manifested as it makes material objects float in mid-air.

The film also shows a little known technique perfected at Moody Institute of Science which actually makes odors visible. In this way it is possible to "see" the smell of a rose.

As all previous productions in this series, "Windows of the Soul," uses science as a means of illustrating and driving home a basic spiritual truth," said Dr. Irwin Moon, producer.

Vacation Bible School Concludes

Susan Aho And Lowell Dennis Exchange Vows

Susan Aho, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Uno W. Aho, US-2, Iron River and Lowell F. Dennis of Escanaba were united in marriage July 7 at, "Westwood", the home of District Judge and Mrs. Charles H. Stark of Munising. Attendants for the couple were Mrs. Stark and Howard W. Stark of Traverse City.

The twilight ceremony was performed by Judge Stark before a window-wall overlooking Lake Superior. A recording of, "I Love Thee", was played immediately preceding the exchange of nuptial vows.

Escorted by her father, the bride entered the candlelit sunken living room as Mrs. Robert Hamilton, pianist, played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bride's corsage of white tea roses and feather mums complemented her summer attire while the bridegroom was presented a white carnation boutonniere. Bouquets of pink peonies were placed about the room.

A buffet supper was served following the ceremony. The table centerpiece consisted of an arrangement of pink peonies flanked by crystal candelabra holding pink candles. A two-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and white swans was served by Mrs. Stark. Laura Stark assisted with the opening of gifts.

The newlyweds will spend the remainder of the summer on Manitoulin Island, Ontario, Canada, where the bridegroom and his father, Paul Dennis, operate Nameless Lake Trout Club. They will return in the fall to Escanaba where both are instructors at Bay de Noc Community College.

Guests at the wedding, all of Munising, included Dr. and Mrs. Neil Grossnickle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. David Sliter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, Mrs. Margaret Robare, and Laura and David, the children of Judge and Mrs. Stark. # McLain Better, Tigers Win

CHICAGO (AP) — "I got in some kind of a groove tonight; it's just around the corner," said Denny McLain Friday night when he came within a whisper of posting his first victory of the season after his Detroit Tigers had rallied for a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

McLain, who was suspended for the first half of the season by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for alleged tieups with gamblers, looked like a winner until he served a game-tying homer to Bill Melton in the eighth inning.

One hit later he was out of the game with the score tied 3-3. Dick McAuliffe's run-scoring ninth boosted the Tigers to victory and lifted them within five games of Baltimore in the American League East.

"I've won with a helluva lot less than I had tonight," said the Cy Young Award winner who posted 31 triumphs in 1968 and came back with 24 more last season.

"We won the game and that's what's important," said McLain whose record remained 0-2 despite the fact the Tigers were victorious in his other three starts.

"I don't have any problems except winning," he continued. "I've got to get that first win. I was encouraged tonight. My fast ball had velocity and I was getting it where I wanted it."

McLain was removed from the game after Melton hit a lead-off homer in the eighth and Gail Hopkins followed with a single. Mike Kilkenny came in to pitch for Detroit, but was removed after Ed Hermann sacrificed. Tom Timmerman then relieved Kilkenny and retired the side. Timmerman got credit for the victory and is now 3-1.

McAuliffe's game-winning single came with two out in the ninth, and drove in Cesar Gutierrez, who had got on base on a fielder's choice and then stole second.

Daryl Patterson was brought in to start the ninth for Detroit, but was removed when Chicago had the bases loaded and two out. John Hiller, the fifth Tiger pitcher, then retired Hermann, who hit a slight infield tap, to save the win for Detroit.

Detroit scored twice in the first on a triple by Al Kaline and singles by Willie Horton, Bill Freehan, and Don Wert.

Chicago's first run was unearned and came in the first when catcher Freehan dropped Wert's throw in an attempt to head off Luis Aparicio, who had singled and moved to third on a single by Carlos May.

Freehan atoned for his error when he crashed his 15th homer of the season in the third to stake McLain to a 3-1 lead.

In the fourth, Hermann hit his ninth homer to give Chicago its second run.

McLain would have been the winner had it not been for an unusual seventh inning play when Mickey Stanley led off the Tiger half with a triple, Stanley later headed homeward after a long fly by Al Kaline was caught. However, Stanley was ruled out for leaving third base too soon and before the ball was caught.

Both teams meet again today with Mickey Lolich, 8-10, on the mound for Detroit.

Stottlemire Stronger, Yankees Feeling Great

NEW YORK (AP) — "Right now," said Mel Stottlemire, "I feel 100 per cent." You can't imagine how good that makes the New York Yankees feel.

The Yankees' ace right-hander had just pitched a "typical Stottlemire game" Friday night, an eight-hit 7-1 victory over the Oakland A's, with 15 of the 27 outs coming on ground balls.

The triumph was Stottlemire's first since June 20, his ninth in 17 decisions and snapped a personal four-game losing streak.

But the best news was that Stottlemire, a 20-game winner three times in his five full big league seasons, felt none of the elbow or shoulder stiffness that has plagued him since spring training.

In other American League games, Minnesota downed East Division leader Baltimore, 6-5, in the 10th inning; Detroit downed Chicago, 4-3; California bombarded Washington 10-0 and remained four games off the Twins' West Division pace; Boston downed Milwaukee 8-2 and Cleveland topped Kansas City

6-0 in other AL games. This was the best sinker I've had in quite a while," Stottlemire admitted. "I didn't have real good stuff warming up. It wasn't real bad, but not as good as it was in the game. And I was able to keep the ball down where I wanted."

Curt Blefary capped a four-run burst in the fourth with his 100 career homer for the Yanks.

Minnesota's battery of Ron Perranoski and Tom Tischenki short-circuited the Orioles. Perranoski hurled three hitless innings or relief and gained his sixth victory to go with 21 saves. Reserve catcher Rischinski scored the tying run in the ninth and drove in the winning run with a 10th inning single.

Dave Johnson's two-run homer gave the Orioles a 5-3 lead in the seventh after Rich Reese tied it in the top half with a three-run clout. Harmon Killebrew drew the Twins within one run in the eighth by swatting his 28th homer.

California's Clyde Wright flipped a four-hitter and slammed two singles and a homer on the way to his first complete game since July 3, when he pitched a no-hitter against Oakland. Jim Fregosi hit two homers and Roger Repoz drove in four runs with a homer and a single.

Billy Conigliaro knocked in three runs with triple and single, and Dick Schofield drove in three with a bases-loaded triple, leading the Red Sox to their fourth straight victory.

Rookie Steve Dunning checked Kansas City on two hits and struck out 10 before giving way to reliever Phil Hennigan in the ninth. Eddie Leon and Buddy Bradford each drove in three runs for the Indians.

Clark To Run Final Race

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — Ron Clarke of Australia sets off today on his most sentimental race—the 10,000-meters in his last Commonwealth Games.

The 33-year-old Australian, who has set 19 world records in his time, is retiring this month. Today's race was his final chance to win a gold medal in the Commonwealth Games—something that has always eluded him in a long and brilliant career. He has won three silvers—two in the three-mile and one in the six-mile.

Clarke faced old rival Naftali Temu of Kenya today, in addition to some other formidable challengers.

Girls Open League Play

The Recreation Dept. Girls softball opened this week, and the impossibles seem to be the team to beat, as they showed tremendous offensive power by scoring 26 runs in two games.

All teams will be back in action again this week on Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 at Royce Park.

All-Star Football Game In Danger Of Cancellation

By The Associated Press
No settlement of the contract dispute between the players and owners of the National Football League is in view over the weekend bringing nearer to reality cancellation of the College All-Star game scheduled for July 31st in Chicago.

The next announced moves in an effort to resolve the stalemate are not scheduled until Tuesday and Wednesday.

An executive committee of the club owners is to meet Tuesday in New York to receive a report from the owners' negotiating committee.

On Wednesday the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has called a meeting of both sides in Washington, according to NFL Mackey, president of the NFL Players Association, who asked the FMCS to intervene.

Monday Deadline?

Mackey, a tight end on the Baltimore Colts, predicted in a televised interview on ABC that if nothing happens by Monday the All-Star game "will not be played."

The All-Star game, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune, has been a fixture at Soldier Field for nearly 40 years. It pits the outstanding college players of the year before against the winner of the Super Bowl, this year the Kansas City Chiefs.

Veteran Kansas City players, barred by the owners from training camps until settlement of the contract dispute, are getting edgy about their lack of practice.

Stram Worried
"I don't see how we'll be able to play the game unless there's a settlement soon," said Hank Stram, the Kansas City coach.

Dan Rooney, vice president of the Pittsburgh Steelers, said the All-Star game "has turned into a farce" and should be abandoned.

Ted Damata a spokesman for the Chicago Tribune, retorted that "Rooney has every right to voice his opinion, but that doesn't make him right about the game. We're ready to play. That's all I care to say. That's all anyone here has to say."

Junior Golfers Swing Tuesday

LANSING (AP) — Some hot young shooters will be showing their skill in the annual Jaycees State Junior golf tourney on Lansing's Indian Hills Golf Course Tuesday.

Grand Ledge Jaycees are sponsoring the tournament this year. Competition will be in the under 13, 13-15 and 16-17-year age brackets.

This year, for the first time, there will also be a girls division.

In the early qualifying rounds, Mike Thompson of Saginaw, playing in the 14-15 year bracket, shot a 76 for his 18 holes. Ross Tilton of Muskegon was the winner in this bracket last year. Tilton qualified with a 77.

Battle Creek seems to have the pacer in the 16-17 year bracket. Dan Ashdown and Jim Lee, both from the Cereal City, had identical qualifying scores of 77.

The Jaycees expect some 150 entries from every area of the state, including the Upper Peninsula.

Representing Escanaba in the tournament will be Matt Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt N. Smith, 1122 S. 17th St., in the under-13 division, and Mike Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas, 1632 S. 16th St., in the 16-17 year old division. Both are sponsored by the Escanaba Jaycees.

With Eyes Open, Clemente Beats Cincinnati Rookie

By The Associated Press

If Roberto Clemente was a general manager, he'd take Cincinnati rookie pitcher Wayne Simpson with his eyes closed. But Clemente is a hitter—so he took Simpson with his eyes wide open.

The veteran Pittsburgh star really was focused in on Simpson's offerings Friday night, slugging them for a single, triple and homer—the homer giving the Pirates' a 4-3 victory over the Reds and increasing to 2 1/2 games their National League East lead over the New York Mets, who lost 1-0 to Los Angeles on Wes Parker's bases-loaded single.

Clemente, who said he had trouble hitting against Simpson in winter ball, praised the young right-hander's ability and said:

Throws Out Runner

"I told (General Manager) Joe Brown during the winter that if he had a chance to get him—I'd take him with my eyes closed."

Clemente not only did in the object of his praise with his bat, he kept Simpson, who had won 10 straight, from getting off the hook by cutting down Tommy Helms at the plate with a perfect throw from right field in the ninth.

In other NL action, Willie Mays belted a three-run homer, his only hit, to move within one hit of the 3,000 mark in San Francisco's 7-3 loss to Montreal. St. Louis snapped an eight-game losing streak by trouncing Atlanta 11-6. Houston topped the Chicago Cubs 5-2 and Philadelphia ripped San Diego 8-3.

Missing Boy, 9 Found In Park

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP) — A 9-year-old West Virginia boy, missing in densely wooded wilderness state park for nearly 20 hours, was found alive and well Friday.

State police who had guided the search for Clayton L. Thompson of Morgantown, W. Va., reported he was found about 2:25 p.m. Friday.

However, troopers said they had no details to indicate who found the boy or where he was discovered. They said they could only report that he was unharmed by his experience.

The boy was returned to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Havelock Thompson. The Thompsons said their son disappeared Thursday evening, after setting out upon a solitary hike down a nature trail.

More than 200 persons, many of them campers from sites scattered through the dense pines and bogs of the 30-square-mile park in northwestern Lower Michigan, joined the search for the boy.

The Thompsons and their four children were vacationing and camping in the Emmet County area along the shores of Lake Michigan.

UAW Not Worried By Canadian Plan To Limit Wages

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the United Auto Workers union said Friday that Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's plan to limit wage increases to 6 per cent is of no concern to the union.

Leonard Woodcock, who succeeded the late Walter P. Reuther as union president on May 22, spoke Friday after opening negotiations for a new contract with the Chrysler Corp. The pact with Chrysler expires Sept. 14 along with similar three-year contracts at Ford and General Motors.

The union has declared that a pay hike of 8 per cent would not be enough.

Trudeau has advanced the 6 per cent limit as an anti-inflationary measure.

"Part of the Trudeau mania is that Mr. Trudeau proposed to the provinces that they should tax any gains beyond 6 per cent which is what his Prices and Incomes Board has suggested," Woodcock said in reply to a question.

"The great leader of that crusade against inflation over there is the governor of the Bank of Canada who, before he put on his crusader's uniform, took care to increase his own (annual) salary from $37,500 to $75,000.

"Now that's the kind of crusader I like," Woodcock quipped.

"We are not concerned with Mr. Trudeau's position over there. We're going to have free bargaining for both our Canadian membership and our American membership," Woodcock said.
